

For Immediate Release

April 2, New York, NY-- MBF Clearing Corp. ("MBF") one of the futures industry's leading clearing firms for professional traders, today announced the launch of the company's new website, www.MBFcc.com

Designed by Connecticut Websites, Inc., MBF's web platform introduces fresh, "new media" design and includes the ability to access content and trading market information published by The Logical Trader, LLC, an independent research firm specializing in quantitative trading methods.

MBF spokesperson Sarah Maraun, "Our clients will no doubt find the new web platform easy to navigate, and they will benefit by having access to third-party tools used by elite professionals within the proprietary trading and hedge fund communities"

Ms. Maraun also noted that MBF's Founder/CEO Mark Fisher will be hosting the 5th Annual Logical Trader Symposium on October 10-11 at the New York Mercantile Exchange, an intensive seminar for industry professionals, whereby all proceeds are donated directly to Make-A-Wish Foundation. This two day event is conducted in a live trading environment and attended by a wide array of trading market professionals, including hedge fund managers and investment firm proprietary traders.

Guest speakers for the 2007 Logical Trader Symposium will include Jon "Dr. J" Najarian, the publisher of OptionMonster.com, Eric Bolling, the professional futures market trader and co-star of CNBC's "Fast Money Five", and Dennis Gartman, Editor/Publisher of The Gartman Letter.

The program will be co-hosted by The New York Mercantile Exchange; media sponsors are slated to include Institutional Investor's Hedge Fund Daily, The Desk, First Entercast Financial, Securities Industry News, Futures Magazine, Dow Jones, and Risk Magazine.
